WATER PLAN BEFORE SUPERVISORS

Eight WPA Projects Totalling $150,000 Approved

280 MEN TO BE PLACED IN COUNTY

Local Manager Instructed to Place All Men on Jobs by Nov. 12

With a drive which started yesterday to put every qualified person in Orange county to work on the WPA program by November 28 under way today, County WPA Manager Dan Mulherron today received word of the approval of eight more projects for starting in the county with a valuation of $150,740.58 and calling for the employment of 280 men.

Mulherron said today that these new projects will help considerably in putting the men to work. There are 1700 men who must be placed on WPA jobs by November 12, representing two-thirds of the number eligible in the first qualification. There are 2200 men who must be given jobs by November 25. There are 650 now working. Those in the first qualification list are those who were on the relief rolls on May 1, last.

The largest project approved for starting today was the county squirrel and pocket gopher control project, calling for an expenditure of $24,072 by the WPA and $7582 by the sponsor. It will employ 42 men.

Two other pest control projects were approved, one being the noxious weed control project, sponsored by the county. WPA will furnish $24,180 and the sponsor $3174 on this project, which will use 64 men. The other control project was for pepper weevil control, for which WPA will spend $23,019 and the sponsor $2525, employing 81 men.

A Huntington Beach elementary school landscaping project calling for an expenditure of $7501 by WPA, $12,585.90 by the sponsor and employing 33 men, was approved. Another was the Fullerton Hillcrest park project for improvements, for which WPA will spend $13,154.5 and the sponsor $3703, employing 29 men. Completion of plans and specifications for the Fullerton Junior college was approved, WPA spending $6648 to the sponsor's $12,209, employing 15. WPA will spend $3869.20 and the sponsor $3538.63 on the San Clemente golf course. Landscaping, Irvine Park calls for $2508 WPA money and $500 by the sponsor, using three men.

N. Y. RACKETEER IS FOUND DEAD TODAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—(UP)—The body of Charles (Chink) Sherman, kingpin racketeer and high in the command of the Dutch Schultz gang, was found in a lime-filled grave near Monticello, N. Y., early today.

The discovery provided a clue to the fate of "Bo" Weinberg, another of the Schultz sub-commanders who with Sherman disappeared several weeks before Schultz and three of his gangsters were assassinated in Newark Oct. 23.

The body had been all but disintegrated by the quick lime with which it had been buried four feet deep. One hand had been closed into a fist and this protected fingers whose prints provided identification.

MEATLESS DINNERS IN FORCE IN ITALY

ROME, Nov. 5.—(UP)—Italians went through their first meatless day today, reconvened to combatting League of Nations penalties but privately pessimistic as to the prospects ahead.

For the next six months butcher shops are to be closed each Tuesday, and all citizens are expected to do without meat, in order that resources may be conserved to carry on the war on Ethiopia.

Possibility of conflict with Great Britain is strong in the minds of those who survey the European situation as it may develop.

Though the army is pushing into Ethiopia with little difficulty, it is generally realized that it still is far from its goal, and the time and money required to take it to success may be more than the country can give.

$121,178 To Be Spent On 4 Highways

South Main Street Widening Included in Four County Projects

Four highway projects in Orange county, two of them in Orange, one of Santa Ana and one near Westminster, aggregating $121,173, are included among 50 new road projects to be financed by federal emergency relief funds in California, as announced today from Sacramento. The total program calls for an expenditure of $5,804,576.

A mile of grading and paving on Batavia street, Orange, between LaVeta and Walnut avenues, to cost $992, and the repaving of two blocks in Orange business district, at a cost of $23,073, are listed.

1000 WILL BE TAKEN OFF OF RELIEF DEC. 1

One thousand Orange county families will be separated from the SERA relief rolls by the first of December, it was announced today by Director Terence H. Halloran of the SERA.

Halloran explained that the picking up of the Works Progress Administration program will result in the dropping of those who qualify for WPA work from the SERA rolls.

A report from Halloran today showed that there still are 3392 families on the SERA relief rolls of the county. During the past week there was a slight drop in the active case load, due to the fact that it was the end of the month when cases are closed.

Women were on the juries which heard the charges against Lamson previously but in a federal trial tradition calls for male jurors in this district.

Friedman appeared before the jurist in chambers for a discussion of the motion, the law behind it, and the charges that Lamson could not obtain a fair trial in Santa Clara county.

St. Sure said he would make every effort to announce his decision today but that the press of work might delay it until Wednesday.

Friedman's move sought to transfer the slaying case to the federal courts. In two previous trials in the county, the juries appeared to support the state's charge. Lamson was guilty of killing his wife. In the first trial he was convicted and sentenced to death. In the second the jury failed to reach an agreement although it was reported it stood at 9 to 3 for conviction.

PRESERVATION OF DEMURRER OCCUPIES DAY

A defense demurrer, seeking to block the action, marked the opening today of trial of the $1,184,265 suit brought by the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles against C. C. Chapman of Fullerton, and members of his family, as well as other stockholders of the Santa Isabel Land Company.

Frank C. Drumm, of defense counsel, consumed the morning session of court and was expected to occupy the entire day in presenting the demurrer to the court, basing it on the ground that the complainant has failed to establish the amount of the liability claimed against the defendants.

Early in his argument, Drumm cited court decisions in support of his contention that a stockholder's liability action such as that at bar must specify the total amount of stock in the defendant corporation, the amount of stock held by each stockholder, and the total liability of the corporation.

He indicated his contention that the third point had not been met, arguing that the liability of the Santa Isabel Land company in assuming a bonded debt of the Hotel Alexandria corporation in Los Angeles, upon which the present action is based, was limited to an unknown and unstated deficit remaining after the plaintiff bank had initiated foreclosure proceedings.

Until this liability is known and established, the liability of the Chapmans and other stockholders of the company cannot be established, Drumm declared.

Drumm and his law partners, J. B. Tucker and Alvin Drumm, and Congressman Sam L. Collins appeared as counsel for the defense. Attorneys H. F. Prince and Ira C. Power, of the Los Angeles firm, Gibson, Dunn and Crutcher, and Attorney S. M. Reinhause of Santa Ana, appeared for the plaintiff bank.

MODIFIED PLAN IS PRESENTED TO SUPERVISORS

The modified program, it is reported, will call for the elimination of the Aliso and Trabuco dams and possibly one or two other small dams. The Brea canyon dam and conduit are left in the modified program.

The board of supervisors, it was learned from a reliable source, authorized its consulting board to meet with Browning and F. C. Finkle, who worked on the program, over the next weekend to try to work out a complete plan which will satisfy all interests with the least possible expense to the county.

GRANT PERMIT FOR NEW ELECTRIC SIGN

Following some argument at a recent meeting of the city council over the hanging of an electric sign at the L and W Liquor store at 325 West Fourth street, requested by Louie Wineberg, the proprietor, the council last night granted the permission.

It was granted, however, subject to the outcome of a case now pending in the supreme court regarding liquor signs of 420 square inches or over.

Electric signs for 321 1/2 West Fourth street and for 410 North Sycamore street were approved by the council.

WAR SPEAKER

Dr. Claude Buss, below professor of international relations, at University of Southern California, will discuss the relation of the "Far East to the War Crisis" at Willard auditorium Thursday evening. This will be the final lecture on the war crisis presented by the adult education department.

COOPERATIVE FARM ACCOUNTING ASSOCIATION IS ORGANIZED

A COOPERATIVE non-profit farm accounting association has just been launched in Orange county to be known as the Orange County Farm Accounting association, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg today.

It is primarily a farmers organization set up to do farm accounting, record keeping, farm business analysis, reports for tax, loans, insurance, or other purposes desired by the farmer member. It is now ready to secure applications for membership and will start accounting work for its members on January 1 or possibly before if a sign-up of 60 members or more is obtained, Wahlberg said.

The project was initiated by the Rural Credits Committee of the Farm Bureau and approved by the directors of the Farm Bureau. The responsibility of getting the cooperative project under way has been assumed by a group of farm leaders interested in the value of a self-supporting accounting service to the individual member. The officers and directors of the Orange County Farm Accounting association are: Edward M. Hall, president, Santa Ana; Andrew Smiley, vice president, Garden Grove; Raymond Terry, secretary, Anaheim; Frank Latham, treasurer, Tustin; H. Allen Kellogg, Garden Grove; A. H. Allen, Santa Ana; and Harold E. Wahlberg, Agricultural Extension Service.

The board of directors has decided to offer four types of service, each of which is designed to meet the accounting needs and requirements of different farm setups, as to size, volume of business, number of crops handled, etc.

Until the organization is well established and in its own quarters, the directors have asked the farm advisor's office to receive inquiries and assist in giving information concerning the various types of service available. Applications for membership may be secured by calling or writing the farm advisor's office at Santa Ana or any of the directors listed above.

The new accounting association offers a work for Orange county farmers to get accurate farm records at minimum cost, says E. M. Hall, president of the association.

If experience shows that a large clientele will enable lower costs of operation, such reduction will be made for the benefit of the members. It will be conducted on a non-profit basis.

LAST LECTURE IN SERIES ON "WAR CRISIS"

The last lecture in the series on "The War Crisis in Europe" will be given by Dr. Claude Buss, professor of international relations, University of Southern California, next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Willard auditorium, 1342 North Rose street.

Dr. Buss will discuss "The Relation of the Far East to the War Crisis." It was considered to be of special interest to have an analysis of the relation of China and Japan to the European situation; all other speakers on the course have considered the matter from the standpoint of European nations.

Dr. Buss has had a Carnegie teaching fellowship in international law at the University of Paris, and from 1929-1933 he was in China, first as an attaché for language study for the American legation at Peking, and later as American vice consul at Nanking. This series will be followed immediately with a series on our national problem including:

November 14—"Economic Planning," by C. D. Carus, professor of economics, University of Southern California.

November 21—"Government and Labor," by Dr. Towne Nylander, director of regional labor board, Los Angeles.

December 5—"The Flight of the Farmer," by Oliver Carlson, author and journalist.

December 12—"The New Deal and The Constitution," by Dr. J. A. C. Grant, assistant professor of political science, University of California at Los Angeles.

The appropriations are made under federal regulations requiring that at least 25 per cent of the funds shall be applied to feeder, or county roads not under federal aid or a part of the state highway system, at least 25 per cent to city streets or roads in metropolitan areas, and the balance on state highways or federal aid routes.

Batavia street, Orange, is classified as a feeder to the state highway system. Glassell street is a part of State Route 181; East Chapman avenue is under the classification of a city street. South Main is a part of State Route 184; Bolsa avenue is Route 183-A.

STUDENT ARRESTED ON BURGLARY COUNT

Santa Ana police yesterday arrested a 14-year old boy, who admitted that he was the burglar who broke into the home of M. E. Bates, 1314 East Fourth street two days ago, they said.

He was lodged in the county detention home.

The boy is said to have admitted that he took a three-cent piece in the house, but nothing else. When the burglary was reported, members of the Bates home said nothing was missed.

The arrest was made at the Julia Lethrop Junior high school, where the boy is a student.

Police News

A burglar who broke into the home of Harry Layton, 811 North Parton street, some time during the past several days, stole a pistol worth $10, he reported to the police.

A typewriter worth $30 was reported stolen from the First Christian church here within the past several days, according to a report made to the police department. The theft was made from the church office and entrance to the office was apparently made with a pass key.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mott, who for the past several months have been operating the Stage Door cafe, next to the West Coast theater on North Main street, left today for Tulsa, Okla., where they expect to go into business.

The driver of the car, did not contest the case, but the owner, D. T. Bauman, appeared without an attorney and conducted his own defense. Attorney B. Z. McFarren prepared for the plain

FILE PROTEST ON CLOSING RIVER MOUTH

Property owners of West Newport, with Otto Momma, property owner there but a resident of Monrovia, acting as spokesman, today protested to the county supervisors that the outlet of the Santa Ana river is being blocked by dredged material from Newport harbor, and has been filled in with muck and slime which makes the stream ill smelling and useless for summer residents of that locality. The matter was referred to Nat. H. Neff, county highway superintendent, to investigate and report on the condition.

A shifting of the dredged materials was said to be responsible for the gradual closing of the stream's mouth.

Chairman John Mitchell told Momma that he had personally inspected the premises yesterday, and saw water flowing in considerable quantity.

Neff quoted U. S. Engineer Hildebrand, in charge of the harbor, as saying that no dredging deposits were present in the stream bed.

Momma disagreed vigorously with such a statement. "Engineers may theorize," he said, "but we who live there know the facts."

Employees Complimented

Two words of praise were received by the board, one from W. T. Chapman, of El Modena, complimenting the state fire fighting

A minimum rate of pay for truck drivers in county service was established by the board to day at 50 cents per hour.

Word was received from the state department of health that a $3,000 subsidy awarded to the Orange county hospital, for its qualifications in handling tuberculosis cases, had been forwarded.

Sixty per cent of all families in Austin, Tex., own automobiles.

Organization and others who assisted in handling the recent brush fire near El Modena. The other was from W. W. Hay, of Brea, Union Oil company official and now head of the 1935 grand jury, who praised the management of Irvine park for its efficient and courteous service when more than 5,000 Union Oil company officials held a picnic there October 26.

Mr. Dennis is survived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Dennis; three daughters, Mrs. B. D. Brown, Texas; Mrs. J. G. Brown, Santa Ana; and Mrs. J. Biggerstaff, Compton; five sons, A. B. Sayings Of Will Rogers

Every state in the union gambles as much as Nevada does, but they were smart enough to pass a law and get some tax money out of it.

If Wall Street paid a tax on every "game" they run, we would get enough revenue to run the government on.

Another thing, we don't seem to be able to check crime. So why not legalize it and put a heavy tax on it, make a tax for robbery so high that a bandit couldn't afford to rob anyone unless he knew they had a lot of dough? We have taxed other industries out of business. It might work here.

If the government runs Mussels

Shoals we lose money. If somebody else runs it they make money. So lets keep it as it is, a tribute to our engineers, a constant argument to our statesmen, and a nightmare to our taxpayers.

We coped all the English expressions, week-end, fortnight, plus four. We are now adopting the street busses that has been our source of amusement over there. We will cop the monocoque yet if they don't watch us.

Bernard Shaw had us right. "We do things well when somebody shows us how." But with all our monkey traits we are kicking along pretty good.

CHANGE PLACE OF S. A. POLICE BENEFIT DANCE

With more than 1000 tickets sold to the Santa Ana police department's ball to be staged next Saturday night, it has been necessary to change the location of the dance from the Santa Ana Veterans hall to the Valencia ball room on Highway No. 101, north of the Orange county hospital.

Change of the location was announced today by Floyd W. Howard, chief of police who said that the Legion home would only accommodate 400 persons and that the crowd could not hope to be accommodated at that location.

Police are holding the dance for the purpose of raising funds for equipping the new police squad room and the new police gymnasium in the city hall building to be opened on December 1.

A score of favors have been given the police for prizes at the dance and plans for the evening are all completed, it was said today.

A meeting of police officers is being held this afternoon at which time Howard will inform them regarding plans for the dance. All are to appear in dress uniforms for the occasion.

If headlights become very bright when the car is traveling at high speed, and dim when it is moving slowly, a weak battery is indicated.

CITY CLAIMS NO FUNDS TO BRING RELIEF

While the streets of Delhi, a part of Santa Ana, have been painted to the city council as being in a deplorable condition, and even the city street commissioners, Ernest Layton and City Engineer J. L. McBride agreeing that they are "deplorable" there is nothing to be done about it at the present time.

This was in substance, what Councilman Ernest Layton told a group of Mexican residents last night at the city council meeting, when they appeared to file other petitions and to ask for help.

Layton said the city had no money at the present time to improve the streets and said the city had made an investigation and "to attack the problem" next year. At the same time he said he would talk with the people regarding their trouble.

No Street Money

McBride reported that it would take more money than is contained in the street fund to fix the streets in Delhi. He said that curbs and gutters were necessary to take care of the water and as the people there cannot afford them, that there was nothing that could be done. He described the area as being flat with no place for the water to drain. He said the streets were oiled two years ago, but that the alkali had eaten the oil and that it would be necessary to bring in foreign material in order to improve the situation.

Matt Lujan, who presented two more petitions last night, one from salesmen who call in Delhi and another from doctors of the city, showing the conditions of the streets, declared to the council that water stood for three weeks on the streets after a rain and that it turned green, making sanitary conditions impossible. He said that the fire danger was unusually great in times of wet weather, because the fire department could not get into Delhi when the streets were so muddy.

Doctors Report

Letters to the council were presented by several Santa Ana doctors, bearing out the reports of the deplorable condition of the streets. Dr. Harry Huffman stated that he had had "many unfortunate experiences" trying to get into Delhi to see patients in wet weather; and declared the streets inadequate; Dr. Roland P. Yeagle stated that during wet weather it was almost impossible to make calls there; Dr. G. Emmett Raft declared that "it was almost impossible to take care of my patients" in wet weather; The Winbiger, undertaker, declared that on many occasions it had been necessary to carry bodies several blocks before they could be placed in a hearse. Dr. Harry Nelson reported he had had difficulty in getting to his patients account of the deep mud.

One of the two petitions presented last night were filed by the principal of the Delhi school and the teachers. The other was signed by salesmen who call on merchants in Delhi, together with the merchants themselves.

ATTACK MADE ON METHODS USED BY CITY

An attack on the methods by which the city is obtaining right-of-way for the proposed widening of South Main street, was made at the city council meeting last night by Joseph P. Smith, fiery councilman who has bitterly opposed the widening for the past 30 days.

Learning that two men had been hired by J. L. McBride, city engineer, on the work of obtaining the right-of-way, Smith wanted to know by whose authority the men they were put on the city's payroll, who were and how much they were receiving, declaring that the action should not have been taken without the sanction of the city council.

Ernest Layton, champion of the widening move, moved to the defense of McBride, who declared that he had employed J. C. Metzgar and A. M. McDermott for the work and that their pay was $6 per day. McBride declared to the council that he did what he thought was right in the matter and that he did not expect his actions to be criticised. He offered to pay the man himself, if the council thought he had overstepped his authority.

The matter finally died down in the meeting after Councilman Layton was all for giving McBride a vote of confidence, but which fell through when McBride said he didn't want it and other members of the council thought it was out of order.

Smith also attacked the resolution passed by the council at a previous meeting on the grounds that no amount of money had been set aside for acquiring the right-of-way, merely that McBride had been instructed to obtain the rights-of-way, the resolution not stating how the money was to be spent.

A resolution was adopted by the council accepting deeds to the city from property owners along the strip of street to be widened over the protest and vote of Councilman Smith, who declared that the city should know that the titles of the property were clear before accepting the deeds.

There was some argument over this point, the council voting four to one against Smith on the resolution.

Smith declared the council was acting hastily in the matter throughout, was not taking the taxpayer into consideration and that it would be just as easy to pass a resolution on all of the deeds at the same time as a few as presented last night. Deeds for parts of 38 lots and three parcels of acreage were accepted by the resolution, which McBride said was about half of the amount.

"If we were buying this property we would demand the deeds go to the title company and have the title company pass on them first before we accepted them. I don't see why we shouldn't do the same thing when the deeds are given to the city," Councilman Smith declared. He said that the time might come when the city would have to step in and quiet title on several of the deeds, for all the council knew at the present time.

INCREASE IN BOND VALUES AIDS MUSEUM

A number of bonds of the Bowers estate, bequeathed to the city, which were believed to be without market value, and which have been lying in trust in the First National Bank building for the past several years, have "come back" and are to be sold by the city, which is to realize $4225 on them.

The council referred the matter to the city attorney for an opinion.

The petition was signed by Mrs. W. B. Snow, president, Clarence Gustlin, Elwood Bear and Holly Lee Vise.

It set forth that the ordinance calling for a fee for this profession was not universal, that laws licensing educators and education was un-American and that this particular city ordinance was discriminatory, in that it did not apply to teachers in public schools.

The par value of the bonds which were believed to be worthless, due to the economic depression, was $12,000. Today they are worth 35 cents on the dollar and on advice of the bank, the council decided to sell them immediately. At the same time it was brought out that the First National Bank of Santa Ana was releasing its charter and that its trust department would be nonexistent and that the First National Bank in Santa Ana, which succeeds it, would not handle the trust.

The bonds are those of the Mid-State Horticultural Company, 6 per cent bonds.

Five shares of stock worth $5 a share also were ordered sold, and the city attorney announced that he would make plans for transferring the other bonds now in trust before the bank surrendered the charter.

S. A. MAN ASKS PERMIT FOR NEW BUS LINE

Albert Hazelhurst, former manager for the Santa Ana Bus Service, operating on Santa Ana streets, last night asked the city council for permission to operate two bus lines in Santa Ana on streets which are not now covered by other lines owned by C. H. Eckles, of Whittier.

The matter was referred to a committee composed of Councilmen Plummer Bruns, Joseph P. Smith and City Attorney Lew Blodget.

Hazelhurst declared that it was his intention to operate a line which would make the downtown section of the city available to all outlying districts of the city and that his plan would be an outstanding aid to the downtown parking condition, in that he would operate so that it would not be necessary for housewives and others to use their cars in coming to the business district.

He said he expects to cover 25 miles per day with the two bus lines starting at 6 a. m. daily and running until 7 p. m. each day with the exception of Saturday on which day his busses would continue until the downtown stores were closed. Schedule call for half hour service.

A routing for two lines was filed with the council.

The itinerary shows that he would pass seven schools of the city including the high school, both junior high schools, the Lowell, Edison, Spurgeon and Jefferson schools. Districts covered would be north and south sections of the city, east of Spurgeon street and west of Ross street, from St. Gertrude's place to Jack Fisher park.

Hazelhurst pointed out that he had had six years' experience in the bus business in Santa Ana.

WILL TELL HOW BAKING POWDER IS TO BE USED

der can. With KC Baking Powder, one of the oldest and most reliable on the market today, one level teaspoonful to a cup of flour is sufficient. This proportion has been worked out as best by experts. Second, measure carefully—an excess amount of any baking powder does not produce best results. A level teaspoonful means that you must level off with a knife.

K C Baking Powder, which will be used by Miss Pauline Edwards in the Register cooking school tomorrow, Thursday and Friday, is manufactured by baking powder specialists who make nothing but baking powder—under supervision of chemists of national reputation. The quality is always uniform—KC is dependable.

Used according to directs, KC will produce the finest of baked goods. It is one of the most economical and efficient products entering the kitchen and you will be convinced of this, having once tried it.

Knowing that baking powder leavens cake, it is natural to assume that adding an extra half teaspoon to the amount specified in a recipe will give a cake greater lightness. The fact is that too much baking powder may cause sinking in the center, tough, gummy crust, coarse dry crumbs, or cake that runs over the pan.

For best results it is a good plan to follow two simple rules:

First, always use the amount recommended on your baking pow-

ECONOMIST SAYS FOREIGN RECIPES TEMPT APPETITE

By PAULINE EDWARDS

Would you like to take a trip to Spain, or Java, or perhaps to India where the "Temple bells are ringing" and nautch girls dance their age-old dances? Who wouldn't? Unfortunately, not many of us can go tripping blithely 'round the world and back, but must stay home to that never-ending preparation of three meals a day, washing dishes, a little rest, and another day with its three meals to prepare staring us in the face.

No wonder life seems a little monotonous sometimes! But if we can't go a-traveling, at least we can have one of the most intriguing things about a journey to foreign lands—the food—right here in our own homes. Don't the very names, "Arroz con Pollo" (that means chicken with rice), Javanese rice cakes with honey, or chicken curry with rice and chutney, just as it is made in old Mother India, kitchen to start their preparation?

You'll notice that these recipes, famous with world travelers, all call for rice, as do so many other foreign recipes. Indeed, in Java, where the first course may be brought to the hungry wayfarer by as many as seventeen immaculate waiters, each carrying a different dish to be sampled, all of the seventeen dishes will contain rice in some form, often so disguised that its presence is never discovered. For in Java they have learned that rice is a delightful food, and one, too, that "sticks to the ribs" providing the energy necessary for an active life.

Here in America the value of rice is all too often overlooked.

for it used to be that we were likely to buy an inferior quality, boil it to a soggy mass that was about as unappetizing in appearance as it was indigestible, when it finally appeared on the table. And that was as far as our imaginations went!

Today, though, there is a brand new quality of rice on the market,

number ONE brand China rice, that is as different from the old as "East from West". When it is cooked the grains are whole, fluffy-white, tender, and with a subtle flavor that is something new and delightful in rice. Once you try it, you'll never be without a package in the house, and you'll be surprised how welcome a guest rice will be at your table. And in how many guises it can appear!

Number ONE brand China rice

is a grand substitute for potatoes or bread, but more than that, it can be made into luscious desserts, or waffles or pancakes that are positively "yummy" when served with honey or maple syrup.

Because it is such a fine quality it never becomes mushy, but helps to make the cakes lighter and fluffier, as good as they are "good for you."

Remember the name, number ONE brand China rice—the method for cooking it is given right on the package.

PIQUANCY LENT TO DULL FOODS WITH TABASCO

"A dish is no better than its seasoning," says Miss Pauline Edwards who will conduct the Register cooking school at the Legion hall tomorrow. "And epicures everywhere applaud foods which are prepared with a dash of McIlhenny's Tabasco."

Morning, noon, and night, this tangy sauce may be employed to lend subtle piquancy to the preparation of dishes delectable to the palate, and stimulating to the digestion.

Morning doldrums may be alleviated by a dash of Tabasco on the breakfast eggs. Added to soups, gravies, baked potatoes, milk, tomatoes or tomato cocktails, and dozens of other dishes, it provides that snappy tang so appealing to the appetite. Its biting property is due to the oil of capsicum, which is a stimulant of the optic glands, thus a great aid to digestion.

This piquant sauce has held favor everywhere, for more than 60 years, according to its manufacturers, the McIlhenny company, who make the Tabasco in Louisiana, where a Gallic deference to the fine art of seasoning has long distinguished food.

CERTIFICATION OF CASES TO WPA STOPPED

Director Terrence H. Halloran of the Orange County SERA today received instructions from State Director Frank Y. McLaughlin to certify no new cases to the Works Progress Administration.

This means that only those who were on relief from May to November of this year are eligible for WPA jobs under the present basis. New cases which come in will be given direct relief until orders are changed.

Halloran believes that the order will result in an increase in the SERA case load. He said there are 3196 persons eligible for WPA work.

Halloran also announced today that the CCC enrollment period for Orange county has been extended from November 1 to 18. There still is room for 76 young men from 17 to 23 years of age. Forty-four boys from Orange county went to CCC camps this enrollment.

AID GROUP TO MEET
WINTERSBURG, Nov. 5.—Women of the Wintersburg Ladies' Aid society will learn of the Good Will Industries of Orange county at their monthly meeting scheduled for Wednesday at the local church hall. The speaker will be Mrs. Angus, of Santa Ana. The regular business meeting of the Ladies' Aid will be included on the afternoon's program.

No melting or grating of chocolate—no time-wasting motions! Ghirardelli's gives you the convenience of cocoa plus the rich flavor of chocolate.

Take advantage of this kitchen-magic in your next cake. Notice the time—and the dishes—it saves! What's more, notice how this Ghirardelli short cut gives your cake a wonderfully fine texture—an airy, fairy lightness!

How to use Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate when the recipe calls for cake chocolate

If your recipe calls for cake chocolate, simply use $\frac{1}{4}$ cup Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate for every square (or ounce) of the cake chocolate.

Because of the natural sweetness of Ghirardelli's, many people prefer to use less sugar in the recipe. If so, reduce the sugar in the recipe about one tablespoon for every quarter-cup of Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate. For example: if your recipe calls for 4 squares (or ounces) of chocolate and 2 cups of sugar, use 1 cup of Ghirardelli's and $1\frac{3}{4}$ cups of sugar.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG —News Behind The News—

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PATIENCE—

Secretary Roper is quietly reorganizing the Department of Commerce so as to make it a go-getter for foreign trade. He is filling key posts with business experts instead of academic economists. It marks belated recognition by the administration that it must prepare for the internal race for foreign markets.

Mr. Roper has played a canny game. When he took office his department's high-pressure methods of stimulating foreign business were under fire. Our commercial attaches abroad had acted as salesmen and bill-collectors for American firms. They had won us active help in several places. President Roosevelt promptly curbed these activities by vesting almost complete control of foreign commercial activities in Secretary Hull and consular officials abroad.

Secretary Roper, a good political soldier, did not fume and fuss. In fact, he agreed with this policy of soft-pedalling sell-and-sign methods. He made no protest when inexperienced consuls were given charge of the problem of informing American manufacturers on potential markets abroad. But he bided his time.

CHANGES—

The administration is courting the friendship of business men and manufacturers who seek foreign markets. It recalls that Herbert Hoover nominated himself by placing the Department of Commerce at the service of exporters. It would like to repeat that trick for 1936 as an offset to administration policies which organized business resents.

Mr. Roper represents the administration's only friendly contact with hostile interests. Whereas other agencies regulate and crack down on manufacturers his department tries to find markets for them. Mr. Roosevelt is coming to realize that he ought to give more leeway to Mr. Roper and his business experts. It may help the administration in circles where it is weak. And it will make the secretary's next job—soon to be taken over-much easier.

Helpful resignations of key officials have given Mr. Roper his chance. He is filling them with men who know business conditions at home and abroad. Although Mr. Hull still supervises foreign trade, it won't be long before his grip will be relaxed. Diplomats can't sell it's begin their malignity.

NEUTRALITY—

The administration's tacit support of the League of Nations in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute may get it into senatorial trouble.

Although a great admirer of President Roosevelt, Hiram Johnson has informed friends at Washington that he does not like Secretary Hull's apparent friendliness toward Geneva's program. The California "irreconcilable" intimates that he is about ready to attack the cooperative without waiting for the opening of congress.

"I am watching Washington's program with anxious eyes," said Hiram in a letter to a friend.

DOUTFUL—

Secretary Ickes is collecting confidential data about the PWA "elective services" for which Arthur Mullen of Nebraska thinks he ought to be paid $175,000. It does not look as if Mr. Roosevelt's floor manager at Chicago will get all he thinks is coming to him.

It appears that C. A. Sorenson, former attorney general of Nebraska, was first engaged to prepare two Nebraska power districts' applications for general funds.

Mr. Sorenson, a Norris Progressive, performed most of the laborious legal work on the ground, which amounts to 90 per cent of the labor in most cases. Although the power districts pay the legal bill, the charge must be submitted to Mr. Ickes because the costs will come out of federal funds which he advances. That's how he happens to have the last say.

But when the power districts forwarded their papers to Washington they felt that they needed political representation. They dished Mr. Sorenson and hired Mr. Mullen, despite the Ickesian warning that "no lawyers need apply."

REBUTTAL—

American business men are adjusting to President Roosevelt's strategy. They are taking no chances that he will catch them off guard again.

When the U. S. Chamber of Commerce directors assailed his policies last spring the President retaliated with the charge that they spoke for only the top layer of business and industry. He declared it a conflict of the "haves" against the "have-nots," and neatly turned the attack into an asset.

Critics contend that the Black Committee is now able to subpoena any witness or any records at the whim of any member of the committee. They foresee plenty of future grief for opponents of New Deal legislation from this source.

Most business and financial leaders feel they would have to appear before the committee if summoned—however distasteful the ordeal—both because refusal might endanger contempt proceedings and because of the adverse publicity and implication of guilt which accrues to anyone who balks at a Congressional summons.

SELECTION—

Washington no longer has any doubt of Herbert Hoover's intentions. Everybody who knows practical politics regards him as an active candidate for the GOP presidential nomination in 1936.

His two close friends—Edgar Rickard and Lawrence Ritchie—are mobilizing the Hooverites who helped nominate him in 1932. They are quietly contacting the Belgian relief crowd and his friends of Department of Commerce days. He talked to the financial leaders in terms they understood and approved.

He emphasized the point that PWA—although its primary purpose is to create jobs—is administered on strictly business principles. In token of this he cited its rejection of one-third of all loan applications from states and municipalities. He also registered prudently the agency's profit of $2,500,000 on the resale to private enterprises—a month or so before the convention when a deadlock threatened.

Recently a group of Wall Streeters met to discuss GOP possibilities. There was much talk of Charles A. Lindbergh, and that's what a prominent broker who has always contributed generously to the GOP stood up and said: "I'm going to give my money to the Republican who has had experience in the White House. I've got $50,000 which I'll hand to nobody but Herbert Hoover."

NOTES—

Department and bureau chiefs are privately grumbling against drastic cuts in their estimates—regular government operations are to be put on short rations . . . Foundations of the new Interior Department building are below water level—and the trouble is easily met by putting in a lining of iron filings, which swell up and make a water-tight basement . . . Col. Pat Hurley is helping to keep the GOP on its toes in Oklahoma . . . Both sides agree that straw votes are worthless this early in the game.

NEW YORK
By James McMillan

ORDEAL—

New York conservatives are privately much concerned about Senator Black's Lobby Investigation Committee. A bill was introduced at the last session of Congress to compel the registration of any person who attempts to influence or prevent legislation for pay or "for any consideration." The bill passed the Senate but not the House. The proposal was of course strongly opposed in right wing circles—but it now develops that authority conferred on the Black Committee shortly before Congress adjourned gives it far more sweeping powers than those implied in the bill—even before the bill is enacted.

Critics contend that the Black

Commission is now able to subpoena any witness or any records at the whim of any member of the committee.

They foresee plenty of future grief for opponents of New Deal legislation from this source.

PERIL—

Japanese exports are running to all-time records this year. They were valued at 1,224,000,000 yen in the first six months of 1935 as against 1,043,000,000 in the same period of '34. But keen observers say the real significance of these figures isn't in their size but in two points generally emphasized.

First, these records have been made in the teeth of grim opposition.

Many nations have raised their tariff walls against Japanese goods in an effort to protect home industry against ruinous low cost competition. This has done about as much good as using mosquito netting to check a Mississippi flood.

Second, a large proportion of the gains have been recorded in Asia—which was to be expected—and in South America.

Purchasing power in Latin-American countries is low. Imports of Japanese merchandise have begun to raise hob with U. S. sales to our southern neighbors and American exporters have reason to take this aspect of the Yellow Peril seriously.

TRADE SCARE—

The White House has received information indicating there will be a flood of Italian orders placed in America as soon as the League of Nations sanctions go into effect.

That was what was behind Mr. Roosevelt's subtle suggestion that he was checking up on American concerns doing business with belligerents.

The truth is Mr. Roosevelt cannot block such trade, but hopes he can bluff money-thirsty concerns out of accepting it. If the bluff fails to work, he can make it hard for some of the concerns indirectly through various governmental agencies (RFC, ship subsidies, mail contracts, etc.).

interest of municipal bonds it had accepted as collateral for its loans.

He painted a picture of Uncle Sam trying to help revive employment and business activity without being in the least paternalistic about it. As a result many bankers returned from the convention with the feeling that maybe the Washington crowd isn't so darned socialistic after all.

GUESS—

New York sharps have been doing some heavy figuring on the effect social security taxes will have on industrial earnings. Their analyses show that on the average corporations will suffer a reduction of earnings between two and three per cent for each 1 per cent payroll tax they are forced to pay. Of course there will be wide variations in different industries depending chiefly on the ratio of payroll to sales and the ratio of profits to sales.

On this basis, motors, heavy machinery, retail trade, oil and agricultural implements will be at a special disadvantage. The mining, chemical and tobacco industries will find the burden comparatively light.

Business leaders are also peering into the future and trying to dope out the best method of offsetting these added costs. It's clear that they will either have to raise prices or increase volume of sales—but the first might boomerang in customer resistance and the second is tough in the face of active competition. They're up against a guessing game where a wrong guess might prove fatal and it has them plenty bothered.

CLEVER—

Allied Chemical is determined to keep the details of its investment portfolio a secret and outpaced the mighty Stock Exchange on this issue two years ago. Recently it appeared to have met its Waterloo when the Securities Exchange Commission ordered a detailed analysis of every asset account amounting to more than 15 per cent of total assets. Its security holdings run well over that percentage.

But Allied had one more shot in its locker. It has subdivided the item into three new accounts: government securities, marketable securities and security investments—each one of which is below the fatal 15 per cent classification. It remains to be seen whether the Commission will reward this cleverness by granting the ardently desire immunity from publicity.

SECTION TWO

VARIETY MARKS CONTANDO CLUB CONCERT PLANS

Designed to appeal to the concert-goer who "doesn't know music but knows what he likes," as well as to the more discriminating listener, the program arranged for the opening concert of the Contando club, November 19, represents an unusual variety, according to the director, Benjamin Edwards, M.M.

Last night's rehearsal in the parish room of Church of the Messiah, was a thoroughly satisfactory one, according to Edwards, who will wield the director's baton at his first Contando club concert in exactly two weeks. There remains but one more rehearsal before the concert date, and Edwards today felt safe in saying that the singers are practically in readiness for the public appearance, judging by the smoothness of last night's practice.

MUSIC IS ENJOYED

"While it is more important to enjoy music than it is to understand it, a finer appreciation is experienced where there is a foundation of understanding," asserted Edwards today, explaining that it is the aim of the club to increase this musical knowledge under his direction, as has been done in the past under Leon Eckles.

Variety is the keynote of this program now under preparation, a variety expressed by the range of composers, representing the finest from the 16th to the 20th century; the songs, both a capella types and with piano accompaniment; sacred and secular music and serious and jovial moods.

The concert, to be held in Orange high school auditorium beginning promptly at 8:15 o'clock, will open in an atmosphere of reverence, induced by the first ensemble group. This will include "Adoremus te," (antiphonal) by Palestrina; Bach's "Break Forth, O Beauteous;" "Salvation Belongeth to Our God" (Tchessakov) and Schubert's "Marche Militaire, " "Oward to Victory."

A solo group by Garner, talented Negro soloist of Los Angeles, ranking unusually high among Southland artists, will complete the first half of the program and will be followed by a ten-minute intermission.

77 New Numbers

Opening the second part of the program will be that stirring and very new number, "I Have a Rendezvous With Life," dedicated by its author-composer, Goeffrey O'Hara, to Franklin Delano Roosevelt, in appreciation of his interest in the youth of America. This will be the first time the song has been publicly presented in the county.

"Fireflies," a Russian folksong; "Oriental" with violin obbligato by Cesar Cui; "The Sleigh" by Richard Kountz and Gustav Lunders "Heidelberg" (steel song) will be featured preceding the second solo group by the guest artist. His numbers will be announced later. The closing numbers on the program will be "Tally-ho" (Leoni-Lord); "Bugle Song" (Arthur Foote) and "Tramp! Tramp! Tramp!" from Victor Herbert's popular light opera "Naughty Marietta."

In order to cut down the time of the concert the intermission has been shortened from the customary 20 minutes to 10 minutes and a shorter space of time will be allotted the guest artist, thus permitting the audience to get home fully 30 minutes earlier than in previous years.

"Crusaders" Shows Here Next Sunday

Cecil B. DeMille's "The Crusaders," the greatest spectacle ever to come out of Hollywood, will open at the Broadway theater on Sunday, November 10, with a cast of more than 10,000 persons headed by Loretta Young and Henry Wilcoxon, according to Manager Lester J. Fountain.

In this great new drama, the famous director has stressed the human and poignant story of the historical Crusades, but has not submerged the spectacles which made him world-famous. Battle scenes on a scale never before attempted, a romance rated as one of the most touching ever told, and a cast of filmdom's greatest players all combine to give the production stature never before approached in movies.

The story relates how Richard Coeur de Lion, King of England, went to the Crusades to free himself of his betrothal with Princess Alice of France, and eventually, marries Berengaria, princess of Navarre. The crusaders make little headway in their struggle against the Saracens until Saladin, emperor of the East, captures Berengaria. Then Richard, heedless of everything else, leads the Christian hosts in the battles that determine the fate of Western civilization.

"Fireflies," a Russian folksong; "Oriental" with violin obbligato by Cesar Cui; "The Sleigh" by Richard Kountz and Gustav Lunders "Heidelberg" (steel song) will be featured preceding the second solo group by the guest artist. His numbers will be announced later. The closing numbers on the program will be "Tally-ho" (Leoni-Lord); "Bugle Song" (Arthur Foote) and "Tramp! Tramp! Several Santa Anans Attend Smith-Richards Rites

Several Santa Anans were in La Crescenta Saturday afternoon for the wedding of a former local resident, Miss Eleanor Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Richards of Glendale, and Don W. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Smith, 120 South Broadway.

The ceremony was read at 4:30 o'clock in that quaint little Episcopal church so popular with brides, St. Luke's of the Mountains, with the Rev. Mr. Haevermann officiating.

Lohengrin's Wedding March and other numbers were played on the organ, and at the close of the ceremony, the tower chimes repeated the strains of the Wedding March.

White chrysanthemums were massed at the altar. Other white and yellow flowers filled boxes at the paneled windows which add to the beauty of the little church.

The bride wore a grey tunic frock fashioned with vestes and collar of bright blue, matching the blue maline trimming of her grey velvet hat. Her corsage bouquet was of orchids and bouvardia. Her handkerchief was a filmy bit of lace and linen sent from Ireland more than 100 years ago, and which had been carried by her mother as a bride. Mr. Smith had presented his bride-to-be with a gold link bracelet which she wore for the ceremony.

Miss Betty Richards of Glendale, as her sister's maid of honor, was dressed in blue printed silk, with a navy blue coat and a corsage cluster of gardenias and red roses. Neal Hall of Santa Ana was best man. Ushers were Joseph W. Smith, brother of the bridegroom, and Joseph McKee, both of this city.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Richards, was in burgundy crepe with a corsage bouquet of gardenias and red rosebuds. Mrs. Joseph P. Smith wore brown crepe, with gardenias and talisman roses.

Formal Reception

A reception was held in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Padua, 1560 South Glendale avenue, Glendale. The new Mrs. Smith cut the first slice of her tiered wedding cake. The bridal couple will make their home at 1148 East Maple avenue in Glendale. Mr. Smith is employed in Los Angeles for the Southern California Automobile club. He had his early schooling in this city, completing his high school work at Tustin, and then attending Santa Ana Junior college and the University of California, Berkeley. Mrs. Smith was graduated from Polytechnic High school, this city. She is an employee of the Union Hardware company in Los Angeles.

Miss Kate Benton and Miss Jean Batterby of La Crescenta, formerly of this city, were present for the ceremony. Santa Anans present were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Smith, Miss Elizabeth Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Patterson, Mrs. Alberta Blake, Mr. and Mrs. George Osterman and sons, George, Joseph and James; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Roper, Joseph McKee, Mrs. Frank Hall, Neal Hall.

Varied Games Interest Young Party Guests

Merry Hallowe'en parties of the past week included an affair at which young Gordon York Mills was host in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon R. Mills, 1118 West Chestnut street.

Two large cardboard pumpkins faces on the porch gave evidence of a theme further carried out indoors. Entertainment included a parade, a peanut hunt, a search for treasure, and other games.

Refreshments were served at a table decorated with orange and black crepe paper. Centerpiece, favors and candy baskets were in keeping with a pumpkin motif.

Present in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Mills and their son were Kenneth Andrews, Normal Andrews, Keith Durbin, Billy Durbin, Charles Blanding, Allen Bruce and Donald Bass, with Mrs. Kenneth Andrews and Dr. Margaret M. York of Glendale. Mrs. York spent several days visiting with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Mills.

FOUR NEW DIRECTORS NAMED AS Y.M.C.A. OPENS CAMPAIGN; COLLEGE PRESIDENT SPEAKS

ORANGE, Nov. 5.—With an attendance of more than 125, the 12th annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held Monday evening at the Woman's clubhouse. President R. W. Hull introduced special guests and the speaker of the evening, Dr. W. O. Mendenhall, president of Whittier college, and Mrs. Mendenhall.

The meeting marked the opening of the annual drive of the Y.M.C.A. for funds, with a quota of $3882.00, a slight increase over the quota last year. J. T. McInnis, general chairman of the finance committee, is in general charge. A report breakfast will be shared by workers Wednesday morning and a victory supper Thursday night.

New directors were elected, Stewart N. White, A. Haven Smith, C. H. Robinson and Ray Stull. Hold over directors are Ralph Hull, Don Smiley, Marion Flippin, J. T. McInnis, L. L. Williams, Harold Girtton, O. K. Anderson and Vic Baden.

Stressing the vital importance of building character at an early age in the young men of today, Dr. Mendenhall told of the necessity of laying a firm foundation which will be the key to good citizenship in later years. Germany built her foundation for war many years before the actual conflict in 1915, while Japan having shut herself away from other nations realized the opportunities to learn and prepared, in the best manner possible to be ready for action at any time, he stated.

The importance of temperance was particularly outlined by Dr. Mendenhall, who spoke of the effect of alcohol on the brain and of the neglect of parents to teach their children the evils of alcoholism.

A pageant was given by leaders of the divisions of the Y.M.C.A. Each commissioner explained the purpose of his group and introduced a leader who cited the ideals of his organization. They were as follows: Friendly Indians' commissioner, Cadet Barnes; leader, Elmer Koenig; Pioneers' commissioner, C. I. Thomas; leader, Bob Robinson; Comrades' commissioner, Ray Aebersold; leader, Herbert Aebersold; Hi-Yi commissioner, J. T. McGinnis; leader, Bob Clifford; Young Men's division commissioner, John Bewley, cott.

If the league is destroyed," she declared, "it will be because there is not enough public opinion to sustain it, and perhaps if the league does not survive, civilization will not survive."

Miss Eleanor Buckles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Buckles, and a student at the Santa Ana junior college, played as piano solos, "Hark, Hark the Lark" by Schubert and Liszt, and "Rondo Capriccioso" by Mendelssohn.

Mrs. Archibald Edwards of Fullerton, county president of Woman's clubs, was introduced and made a short talk.

Guests were received by Mrs. Christine Lambert. Tea was served at the close of the program and presiding at the tea table were Mrs. William Batt and Mrs. Frank C. Richmond.

The table was centered with an orange pottery bowl of green gourds and was lighted by yellow and orange candles in brass holders and candelabra. The teakettle used was a family heirloom in the family of Mrs. H. O. Russell, who was one of the hostess committee.

THE TINY WITNESSES

Story by HAL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The birds kept pecking very fast. "Oh, goodness, how long will this last," cried Dotty. "Soon our pumpkin will be eaten out of sight."

"Instead of sitting here, this way, let's try to scare the birds away. If we can do it promptly, everything will be all right."

Then Scouty loudly shouted. "Shoo! Get out of here, now, all of you. We're trying to reach a new, strange land, and you will spoil it all."

"Right through the pumpkin you have made big holes, and we all are afraid that in about minute we are going to have a fall."

The birds pecked faster, so it seemed, and Goldy said, "I never dreamed that we would have this trouble. I'm scared as I can be."

Then Windy cried, "Let's start to wave our hats about, and rant and rave. That ought to frighten all the birds. We'll very shortly see."

The bunch thought this plan was all right. They waved their hats with all their might. "It's working," shouted Duncy. "Two birds just flew out of view."

Then two more left, and that was all. "Ah, maybe, now, we will not fall," said Copy. "Twas a good hunch, Windy. Three loud cheers for you!"

"Four 'oles were in the pumpkin's side. Soon Dotty, in a shrill voice, cried, "Oh, we are swaying all around, and dropping very fast."

"As sure as anything, we'll land. I hope a soft spot's near at hand. It takes my breath away, the way the wind is whizzing past!"

Then plop! They landed on the ground. The pumpkin smashed

THE great Queen Victoria of England has a modern counterpart in the lovable Queen Wilhelmina of Holland. For 45 years, this feminine ruler of the Dutch has been her people's inspiration, bidding fair to equal, if not surpass, the record of Victoria's 64-year reign.

Although Wilhelmina ascended the throne in 1890, at the age of 10, she did not begin actual rule until she became of age, in 1898. But even under the regency of the late Queen Emma, her mother, Wilhelmina began to win the love and admiration of her people. Her hobby is painting landscapes.

Just as Queen Victoria became the most pictured woman on stamps, so also is Wilhelmina running her a close second. At least 12 different portraits of her appear on stamps of Holland, and its dependencies. One is shown here, on one of a series issued in 1923, on the silver jubilee of Queen Wilhelmina's reign.

EFFECTS OF DEMAGOGUES ON THE PUBLIC

Father Coughlin, Radio Priest of Detroit, has begun his fall and winter "rabble-rousing" campaign.

In a way, he almost has a monopoly of this kind of demagoguery. Huey Long disputed honors with him for a while and probably could have equalled the priest, if he had had as much time to devote to speech-making exclusively, as had Father Coughlin. The late senator from Louisiana, as is Father Coughlin, was at his best in vituperative language, showing that that department of their mental make-up which expresses hate, was very considerably overdeveloped.

Huey Long undoubtedly had a keener, more incisive and more constructive intellectual equipment than has Father Coughlin. The priest, even at that, is "no slouch" as an agitator. In that realm just now he reigns supreme.

All of this character of agitators have a peculiar mental quirk which is used on their hearers to impress them that the speaker knows something that they do not or has the means of information which is not open to the listener.

Father Coughlin lodges the misinformation, that he desires to plant in the minds of his listeners, by frequently using the term: "Whether you know it or not, this is so."

In a recent diatribe which he divides between two victims, Congress and the President, he declares: "Whether you know it or not, the stage is being set for our entrance into another war."

He would have you conclude, from the general abuse that he makes of the President and threats of opposition, that it is the President who is setting the stage. He then proceeds in an attempt to confound the neutrality action that has been taken, together with the admonition of the President that those who trade with belligerents trade at their own risk, with the sanctions that the League of Nations is imposing against Italy.

Then he proceeds further, in his abusive diatribe, to "go after" the President if he should favor this. The logic of his whole speech, if it had any, would be, to paraphrase it: "If you do anything that will tend to prevent Italy from having a free hand in Abyssinia, you are enemies of the human race."

Father Coughlin, in this, of course, supports the position of the Vatican in its recent appeal for Italy and the blessings which have been given the enterprise by high church authorities in Rome.

While Father Coughlin seems to have no fear of differing with all the saner leaders of his church in America, he very clearly, by this address, shows that he is not going to differ with Rome.

It is rather remarkable to note the great number of people who will relinquish all power to think for themselves and then to express their views, to some one else, and follow such person or persons implicitly.

The one, who expresses the prejudices of the masses in the most violent and uncontrolled and almost irresponsible manner, is the selected leader whom the masses follow.

On the other hand, the one who does the same thing, in expressing the prejudice of the reactionary and ultra-conservative, finds that he, too, has the unquestioned and loyal support of those who enjoy prejudices along that line and who receive their ideas and suggestions, ready-made, so that it saves them doing any thinking, and they can just say: "Me too."

We still believe in a democracy that has to tack from one of these extremes to the other. It is very difficult to sail before the wind of common-sense public opinion.

This is true because the atmospheric pressure, coming from either starboard or port of the extremists on either of the outside edges, overcomes the saner course of those who see the dangers in both extremities.

There looks to be some alliance between Father Coughlin and William Randolph Hearst. You will not find, in the utterances of either, any serious disagreement with those of the other.

COMPLACENCY OF PEOPLE UNFORTUNATE

Earthquakes are such interesting phenomena that many people, hearing about them, have mixed desires of wishing to experience an earthquake, with a still more intense desire not to be injured by one.

The earthquake region, by the nature of the cause of earthquakes, is a region of abrupt terrain, of mountainous and volcanic topography. The quivering of the earth in the eastern section of our country along the region of the Great Lakes, however, has surprised millions and has given new experiences to millions of people.

It was so slight, in most of those places, that the inexperienced either didn't notice it at all or attributed it, undoubtedly, to a rumbling truck.

When the newspapers came out and announced the facts and gave the record of the seismograph, many were disappointed that they hadn't "enjoyed" the quake. A few people, visiting in the East, whose homes were on the West Coast, instantly recognized the tremor.

We suppose, in ages past, there were serious convulsions in that region as there are in the mountainous and volcanic sections now.

It is remarkable how we can become accustomed to those unusual things, the first knowledge of which brings terror.

We can even become accustomed to the devastation and death that these more violent quakes cause, as long as we are spared. We say: "Well, it's over. It hasn't occurred as bad as this for many years. It will be a long time before we will have another one. Let us eat, drink and be merry!"

With all the uncertainties and dangers that lurk in the bowels of the earth beneath Vesuvius, you would think that fear, awe or at least a little element of respect would cause people, in their seeking a home or a vineyard, to keep their distance from that wrathful, smoking giant who has covered whole cities with ashes and lava in his time. But no! on the very banks of the mountain, you will find that the peasant has impudently built his home and is growing his grapes.

It is unfortunate, at times, that we do become accustomed to things which should shock us. More than 30,000 human beings are destroyed each year by the automobile, wiping out a population as large as that of Santa Ana, besides several times that number injured. Yet we have become impervious to the news of the accidents.

It would be well, on these evils, if we would utter and have answered a prayer that we one time heard a minister express, when he said: "Oh, Lord, help us to feel about this thing as we would feel if we hadn't seen so much of it and grown accustomed to it."

'Get Tough'

San Diego Union

Upon pain of dismissal, New York's policemen have been ordered to beat up known gang chieftains before they arrest them.

This is not a new order—quite the contrary. Whenever gang depredations arouse more than the normal "heat" from the public, some such order is issued by the presiding police commissioner. The commissioner stands in a good light, looking very tight-lipped and firm, and when the picture men are through shooting he goes off to speak at an advertising club luncheon or to unveil a drinking fountain for the Metropolitan Society of Dog-Lovers.

So far as we have ever learned, no gang chieftain above the rank of shavetail has ever had his hair mussed as a result of these orders. Many a common mug has received for a policed workout, of course, but that happens anyway—so they say—even without an invitation from a tight-lipped commissioner posing for the cameramen.

In short, this order to "get tough" is a time-tested fake, and the citizen who believes in it ought to go to a professional wrestling bout and see something really earnest and serious and sincere.

As another sidelight on the administration of criminal law in this republic, this familiar fake is important—and that is its only importance. It exposes the fraud in a political system which is commanded by law to make war on its own beneficiaries.

But all that system can do is to put up this traditional show of making faces, emitting fierce growls, and bloodying up a few minor hoodlums, while the big-shots of cops, courts and rackets play pinocchio together in the club rooms where the next election campaign is planned. As long as municipal politics is itself a racket, the bosses of one branch office are not going to be really tough with the bosses of another.

A Question

Oakland Tribune

Educators are far from complacent. They are accustomed to having their thought shocked by challenge and one of their greatest virtues is their willingness to admit mistakes.

Something to cause them and others to "sit up and take notice" came from the lips of the president of Lafayette College a week ago at the celebration of the centenary of secondary education in America.

"We cannot say smugly," Dr. Lewis declared, "that we have had 300 years of schooling in America and today have the most universal system in the world, that we have a million young people in colleges, and let it go at that."

Some skeptic is bound to come along with the disturbing question: "Has the game been worth the candle?"

And then, as if in answer to the question, Dr. Lewis stated that the use of correct English in this country has become so rare as to "attract surprised attention."

Other charges which he made were these:

"Manners are poor. The courtesies of an early day are classified as Victorian and therefore discarded. It is considered smart to appear uncouth. Lawlessness is on the increase. Political indifference has increased as the years pass. Spiritual ideals have become less evident."

The question put by Dr. Lewis is: "How long this sort of 'education' can go on before the social order of America deteriorates?"

Nazis Face Difficulties

Santa Barbara Morning Press

To the normal German, who is a valiant trencherman, the scarcity of food and the rising prices under the Nazi regime must be irksome in the extreme and may contain the seeds of political action which could alter the whole picture in the great European republic.

A special report on the German food situation received by the United States Department of Agriculture, from Donald F. Christy of the Foreign service, reveals the unfortunate plight of the German people. As most readers know, everything in Germany is now regulated from the production and distribution of crops to the taking of wives and the wearing of clothing. The Nazi regime has become so powerful that there is little independence of action. Since Hitler cast the Versailles treaty into the discard and the Germans are rearming as rapidly as possible, the government has deliberately cut the nation off from the rest of the world and has regulated the marketing system to the last detail. Through restriction of trade with other countries, imports have fallen to a low point and the people are having difficulty in obtaining a desirable variety of food. Prices are higher than world levels, also, the agricultural service report states.

Under these conditions it could hardly be said that all is well with the Nazi regime, from either economic or the political standpoint.

Will Rogers Memorial Merited

Long Beach Press-Telegram

Eminently fitting is the action of Governor Merriam in dedicating Monday, November 4, to the observance of the fifty-sixth anniversary of the birth of Will Rogers.

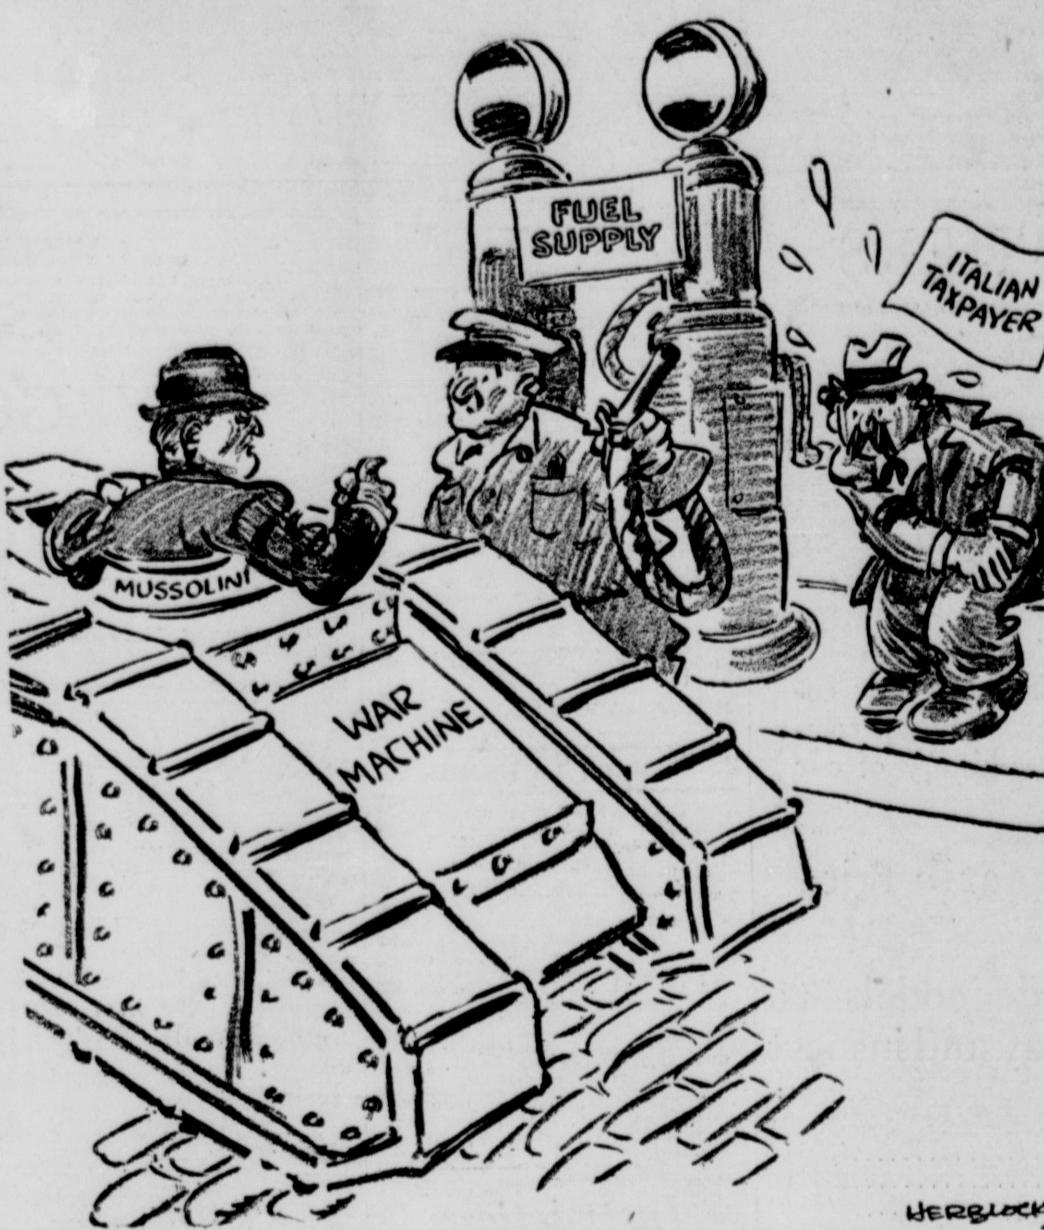

As Governor Merriam so well says as to the fitness of this observance. Californians should mark the day by "exalting the fine characteristics and wholesome virtues of the man who taught us how to find satisfaction in the simple and common things of life."

Will Rogers achieved world-wide distinction as a humorist without surrendering his own character by going into the pitfalls of temptation which beset every star of the stage and screen. He should be honored for the superb example he set, throughout his career, of never indulging in vulgarity or unclean suggestions. He demonstrated that pictures can be made intensely interesting and uproariously funny without descending into the slime-pits of vulgarity and viciousness. His pictures were so uniformly clean and unobjectionable that all members of the most refined family might see and enjoy them.

It honors any people to honor a character like Will Rogers. The people of California will compliment themselves and proclaim to the world their own high ideals by honoring Will Rogers next Monday, California's first "Will Rogers Day."

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE VOYAGE

The wind whistles shrill through the rigging.
The spindrift flies over the beam.
As she speeds on her way
Through the white-crested bay
She strains every timber and seam.
But never a jot does she waver,
Let the gale blow with all of its force,
Let the clouds hurry by
Through the mist-laden sky
She is never deterred from her course.

The billows break white on the counter,
There's a hint of a storm in the air.
Now all hands look out,
She is coming about—

There's a reef down to leeward. Beware!
She staggers and yaws in the seaway,
The sails sit a little, and then
She climbs a great sea

And once more she is free
To head for the harbor again.

Now lo! Through the gathering twilight,
With never a sway or a swing,
She is headed for home
Leaping on through the foam
As swift as a bird on the wing.
Now happy will be the proud skipper,
Who has brought in his trim Little bark,
(Now tucked under his arm)
With no fear or alarm.

While he stood by the pond in the park.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

THREE WAYS TO TURN

There are three directions in which we can turn for help in getting out of the economic futility of widespread want in the midst of plenty, viz:

(1) To private enterprise.

(2) To the state.

(3) To the cooperative movement.

The gears of private enterprise in the United States jammed in 1929. Our productive mechanism was never in better shape, but our consumptive demand slowed down from a run to a dog trot and then to a snail's pace. We had learned to make things faster than we had learned to use them. We had been so busy perfecting a technology of production that we had neglected to perfect an economics of consumption. And we had to pay the price for this neglect.

Suddenly the "paradox of plenty" that the French economist Fourier had forecast generations before fell fully upon us.

All this happened at a time when the masses had votes in their hands. When private enterprise went into the depths of depression, the voting masses began to wonder whether these votes in their hands could not be used to better their economic lot. And so, with these votes, they turned to the state and cried, "Do something!" And straightway the state began to "plan" the nation's enterprise in the hope of putting the fruits of this age of plenty at the disposal of the millions.

I think the masses are doomed to disappointment, for, as I have said before in these articles, unless the state takes over all power and actually runs the total enterprise of the nation, the state can only plan scarcity and raise prices; it cannot set the economic machine running at full tilt.

Personally I am convinced that our greatest hope lies in a combination of private enterprise and cooperative organization, voluntary in origin nad operation, with each acting as check and pace-setter to the other in the adoption of true economics of plenty.

CHARACTER TRAINING

Many people write to me, asking for suggestions that will help them develop character in their children. There is no formula for building character. Character is something you are born with. It's a quality of mind. If you have the capacity for goodness, the experiences of life will increase it.

You can bring out only what is in the child. Lou cannot add one quality that is absent. But it is well to remember that all children have strengths, fine qualities that can be trained and brought to the front, provided we have the sense to discern them and the wisdom to let the child to know them and to learn to love them. Here are a few keys to the situation. We have tried them and found them to work.

No child can be educated. He must educate himself. He must do his own growing. You cannot save him from life even if you would. You can point the way, but you can do little else.

Advice should be given grudgingly, briefly, unless asked for, and then it is to be given fully and freely.

Interruption of the child's work and growth must be avoided. Give the child his job and leave him to struggle with it as far as possible. Interfere only in time of danger.

Safeguard the small child against mistakes and failures. Sureness and accuracy are essential to health of body and mind.

There must be no hurry. The growing child needs time. He needs elbow room. There is no need like haste.

Correct form is essential to all good work. The child should be trained in the use of good form, manners, speech, posture, dress. Action and thought are closely related. If he behaves properly he will think correctly. If he thinks sanely his conduct will become instinctively good.

Accept and accent the child's strong point. Try to build up his weak points, and usually that is
